God is All-Knowing

Series: Knowing The God We Worship

Psalm 139-1-16

Dr. Sam Owusu

In Psalm 139, the Psalmist reminds us there is One in heaven who knows. He knows all there is to know about any one of us. He knows everything. Theologically, this attribute of God is called His omniscience. He knows our activities. He knows our thoughts. He knows our habits. He knows our direction. He knows every day of our lives. As we study God's omniscience, we will examine five areas where His knowledge connects to our relationship with Him.

DISCUSSION QUESTIONS

1. Reflect on the sermon. What are some of your highlights?
2. Read Job 37:16; Psalm 33:13-15; Isaiah 46: 9-10; Ezekiel 11:5; Acts 15:18; 1 John 3:20. What are the different ways the writers express God's omniscience?
3. Read Matthew 10:29-31. How precisely does God know you? Does anyone else know you that well? What does Matthew say our reaction should be because God knows us?
4. Read Psalm 139: 1-16. List the many ways God knows you.
